

CONTENTS

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	13
CHAPTER ONE - Quantitative Assumptions	19
The Putative Authority of Modern Quantitative Assumptions	21
The Psychological Assumptions	22
The Substantive Assumptions	22
The Nature of Statistics	23
The Intuitive Appeal of Statistical Thinking	25
CHAPTER TWO - Measurement Models	27
The Identity of the Actuarial Model for Liability Management and the Performance Measurement Model for Investment Returns	29
The Necessity for a Measure in Statistical Calculation	31
The Market Liquidation Model	32
The Market Liquidation Model as a Circle of Self-Reference	34
Meaning in the Market Liquidation Model	35
The Subjectivity of the Market Liquidation Model	35
The Qualitative Nature of Investment Returns	38

CHAPTER THREE - Assumptions of Aggregate Thinking	43
The Assumptions of Aggregate Thinking	45
(A) Description as a Substitute for Knowledge	46
(B) Truth as a Quantity	47
(C) Actions Based on Quantitative Truth	49
The Identity of the Actuarial and Performance Measurement Model as a Contradiction	50
Corollaries to the Market Liquidation Model	53
Problems with the Market Liquidation Model	55
CHAPTER FOUR - A Better Way	57
The Logic of Implementing the Market Liquidation Model	60
Risk and the Creation of Wealth	61
Successful Investment	63
Investment Policy	65
CONCORDANCE	67